THE ROLL OF MERIT

Names of Children Who Rank Highest in Their Classes.

This Week's Record of Primary School Pupils.

Diligent Boys and Girls Once More Reap the Reward of Industry.

The pupils in the Primary Schools and Departents who during the past week have won the premost place in their classes once more flud nes in Tun Eventuo Wont D's Roll of

The names have been furnished by the principals and teachers in the various schools in the knowledge and belief, born of past experience, that their publication will stimulate all the little scholars to renewed industry and cause them to be more prompt in attendance.

Every scholar whose name is not on the list this week should strive by punctuality, industry and good behavior to gain an nonored and enviable place in future Rolls of Merit.

The occupants of at least one table in the Hoffman House barroom last night paid little attention to the heated arguments of the politicians.

This little party, an oasis in the political Sahara, engrossed by the conversation of a prosperous looking, middle-aged sport, heeded nothing outside its own circle.

Few big prize-fights in the past thirty years but had been seen by at least one of the little knot. As a spectator, at least, some one of them had been at about every big mill, and they were in for worse of the sport.

knot. As a spectator, at least one of the little knot. As a spectator, at least, some one of them had been at about every big mill, and they were in for more of the sport.

The man who held their attention had every right to it. He got off the great $6,000 battle for the middle-weight championship between Dempsey and Fogarty, and has helped Dempsey and many another pugilistic star into prominence.

He was offering to give $5,000 for a finish fight, either London or Queensberry rules, between Dempsey and Mitchell.

A battle between these men is what every lover of the art would give most to see. Dempsey has long been anxious for a go with Mitchell, has challenged him time and again, even treated him to insult.

Mitchell will probably reach New York on the Umbria to-morrow. His answer will be looked for with intense interest.

Mitchell's taking this opportunity is quite another thing. He is here to see after Kilrain's interests, but Jake's interests don't need any looking after just yet.

In one letter or paper he is to fight Dempsey as soon as he can get at him; in another, his hands are bat and he has so much money he will never fight aga n.

The sum of $5,000 makes a splendid purse for any man to battle for. Heenan and Sayers fought for $2,000—$1,000 a side- and they had backers to divide with. Here is a chance for Mitchell or Dempsey to make at least $4,000 for three or four weeks' work.

Capt. James C. Daly, the Irish Giant and well-known boxer and athlete, has accepted Duncan C. Ross's challenge to wrestle for $1,000 a side, and has posted the $500 forfeit.

lences to the Fourteenth Street Theatre, and will loubtiess continue to do so next week. Manager senques' is making preparations to receive comp'ete returns or the election at this theatre Tues-day night. Be has arranged with the Western the stage.
"' A Brass Monkey" is still doing a colossal business at the Bijou. The "Razzie Dazzie" tree in the third act is persistently and continuously encored each night, while the song and chorus in the ast act, "There's no files on Jasper," has made no less of a hit. An attempt will probably be made to prolong the run of "A Brass Monkey." At the Fifth Avenue Theatre that splendid trio, Joseph Jefferson, John Gilbert and Mrs. John Drew have been meeting with great success in "The Rivals." Sheridan's comedy will be con-tinued during the coming week. The production is one of the events of the season, and everybody who appreciates a thoroughly excellent perform-is one of the events of the season, and everybody who appreciates a thoroughly excellent performance ought to see it.

"We, Us & Co.," a play that has enjoyed a long wun in this city, is the attraction which H. R. Jacobs will offer to the patrons of the Thalia Theatre heat week. This farce comedy has been improved by the addition of new songs and specialies, and Monday night will be the first time it has been offered to the public at popular prices.

Edwin Arden, with his new play, "Barred Out," will be at H. R. Jacobs's Third Aveous Theatre next week. This will be Mr. Arden's last appearance in New York this season. The play was well received at the Thalia Theatre last week, and will presumably repeat its success uptown. An extra ance in New York this season. The play was well received at the Thalia Theatre last week, and will presumably repeat its success uptown. An extra matine will be given on Election Day.

The art gallery of the Eden Musée will be closed until Nov. 5, when the display of a choice collection of paintings from the Park Salon of 1888 will be made. When reopened the gallery will contain gems from the brashes of noted foreign and American artists. The collection will be noteworthy. The enterprise of the Eden Musée management is to be commended.

Alexander Comstock says that the excitement of the times has by no means affected the business of "The Old Homestead" at the Academy of Music. The happy managers of the big play-house are already "figuring" upon the engagement of Uncle Joshua Waltcomb next season. "The Old Homestead" is becoming a veritable institution.

The fourth week of the run of "Mr. Barnes of New York" begins Monday night at the Broadway Theatre. The business done during the past week has been extremely satisfactory. Sinnager Sanger will give no matine Election Day. He has made arrangements with the Western Union to have the election returns at the theatre Tuesday night.

"The Yeomen of the Guard" at the Casino is highly prosserous. Rudoiph Aronson says that the receipts of the Saturday matinée exceeded taose of any matinée ever given at the house, with the exception of the Thankagiving performance of Ermine" in 1886. Parties of children visit the theatre frequently, and "The Yeomen" is evidently becoming bopular.

Dockstader will have plenty of novelty next week. The new burtesque on "The Yeomen of the Guard" will be made known. Master Harri dentily becoming popular.

Dockstader will have plenty of novelty next week. The new buriesque on "The Yeomen of the Guard" will be made known. Master Harri will sing "Home, Sweet Ik me;" Dockstader, a new topical song; John McWade, with an increased chorus of "MacMan boys," will sing Sulivac's "Lost Chord," and John H. Daws, M. H. Rosenfeld's ballad, "The Beggar Millionaire." Miss Margaret Mather will begin an engagement at the Grand Opera-House Monday night, and will appear at matines Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday. Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoon, in "The Lady of Lyons;" Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoon, in "The Honeymoon," and Saturday afternoon, in "Macbeth." To-morrow night Prof. Cromwell will take his audience to Washington.

At Daiy's Theatre "The Lottery of Love" and the dainty little lever de rideau, "The Wife of Socrates," are packing the house on all occasions; in fact, after 8 o'clock each evening seats are at a premium. The plays can undoubtedly run just as long as Mr. Daly pleases, but it is his policy never to let a niece wear out its welcome.

"Waddy Googan" is still the attraction at Harrigan's Park Theatre, and likely to remain so for a long time to come. The report that the genial actor manager has read a new play to his company has been denied. There certainly seems to be no reason why he should have done so, "Waddy Googan" is packing the theatre, which, by the bye, is no small one to pack, and is eminently prosper-ous.

"A Legal Wreck," at the Madison Square

part has made a very decided int.

Pienty of good things will be offered to Tony Pastor's friends at the little theatre in East Fourteenth street next week. Among the features are Woodward's cutcated seals, Tierney and Wayne, the Sisters Arthur, who will make their first appearance in New York; Duncan, the ventriloquist; Frank and John Lenton, the acrobats; Prof. Harry M. Parker, with his "$20,000 dog and cat circus;" Homer and Lingard, Harry La Rose, the Sisters Coulson and Miss Beatrice Vaughan. There will be an Election Day matinée. The election revurns will be an Election Day matinée. The election revurns will be read from the stage Tuesday night.

The well-khown melodrams entitled "Shadows of a Great City" will be the attraction next week at Mr. Miner's People's Theatre. The play is 100 well known to need much explanation. A good cast is promised and the stage setting at the People's is always beyond reproach. "Shadows of a Great City" will doubtless do a comfortable business ddring election week.

"Siberia," one of poor Bartley Campbell's bestnown plays, described as a Nihillatic drama, will begin a week's engagement at the Windsor Theatre Monday. Forrest Robinson, Miss Eleanor Moretti and Miss Minnie Radeliffe will play the leading parts. Manager Murtha promises "Uncle Tom"a Cabin, Nov. 12 and the Howard Specialty Company Nov. 19.

"Public Herne," Mrs. Mary Piske's play, begins parts. Manager Murtha promises "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Nov. 12 and the Howard Specialty Company Nov. 12.

"Paulip Herne." Mrs. Mary Fiske's play, begins the last week of its long netropolitan run at the Standard Theatre Monday night. The play will then be seat on tour. Its business picked up very satisfactorily at the Standard Theatre. The part originally played by Joseph Haworth is now entrusted to Frederick Faulding. Joseph Wheelock Pillip Indiana and the Cruciffally played by Joseph Haworth is now entrusted to Frederick Faulding. Joseph Wheelock Pillip Indiana and Capital Prince of the part is the American and West minstrel organization begin an engagement at Niblo's on Monday night. These popular fun-makers are sure of a cordial reception. Refined minstrelsy is as much appreciated as ever. This is the organization that is to be taken across the continent to San Origin's Dream at the Star Theatre will enter ripon the second and last week of its run at that nonse Monday night. The production has met with favor, as was predicted. It is a capital entertainment, though Shakespearian lovers may truly say that it has nineteenth century embellishments. It is beautifully staged.

"The Battle of Gettysburg" cyclorama at Fourth avenue and Nineteenth street is still open to the public, and still enjoys considerable patronage. Manager T. M. Hill orops in very frequently, and seems to be quite astraßed with the success of his enterprise. The atory of the battle, in book form, is now presented unity to visitors. It is an interesting ittle work.

"Jerusalem and the Crucifixion," the cyclorama at Fifty-nints street and Madison avenue, has not yet lost any of its popularity. Since the redu tion of the admission fee to 35 cents the paironage has increased considerably. The painting is one well worth seeing, and its one that will do students of sacred history a great deal of good.

Dorrie's Bly Dine Museum, at No. 351 Eighth avenue, which was opened to the public on Monday, seems to possess all the elements of popularity. It is in a populous neighborhood, and is certainly conspicuous. Mile Mille Christipe, the two-headed girl, is the principal attraction. The Kohi and Middleton Chicago Specialty Company give hourly entertainments.

Worth's Palace Nuscum in East Fourteenth street, just opposite Steinway Hall, has enjoyed a large patronage during the past week. The management do not allow the grass to grow beneath their feet. The attractions at the museum are numerous and ever changing. Jo-Jo, Big Eliza and Kli-Kli are curiosities that are well worth seen.

Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, "The Mikado,"
Will be the attraction at the Theatre Comique, Hariem, next week with an excellent cast, including Miss Helen Lamont, Miss Alnoe Carle, Miss Macella Baker, Miss Luciena Lorraine, Miss Minnie De Reu, Sig. Brocollni, James A. Gothert, Edward Gervalse, N. S. Burnham and Joseph C.
Fav. Fay.

At Koster & Bial's there will be the usual excellet variety programme next week, Messra Koster do not unduly profit by the knowledge of that fact.

They are extremely energetic caterers, and the features of their programme are always interesting.

As a positive indication of its success, 'The Two Sisters," by Thompson and Ryer will play a return enragement at the Grand Opera-House next week, and should fill that handsome playhouse at each performance. Extra matinee on Election Day.

performance. Extra matinee on Election Day.

The Amphion Academy will have an important attraction next week in Mr. Henry K. Dixey, who will appear in the ever-welcome "Adons." Mr. Dixey has a large cinentee in Brooklyn, and should test the capacity of Knowes & Morris's Amphion at each performance.

With a cast embracing such well-known people as Herbert Kelcey, Nelson Wheatcroft, Henry Miller, Charles Walcot, Charles S. Dickson, Georgia Cayvan, Grace Henderson, Mrs. Charles Walcot, Louise Delion and Mrs. Thomas Whiffer, the production of Belasco and De Mille's society drama, "The Wife," will in all respects be a notable event, and the Park Theatre will undoubtedly be thronged all next week with a rashinnable assemblage. On the afternoon of Election Day a special matinee will be given, and the stage.

Rider Haggard's thrilling and remarkable story of "Sne" will be illustrated by living characters at the Lee Avenue Academy next week by William Gillette's combination of fully one hundred dramatic and lyric artists. The scenery and effect are said to be unusually fine and realistic. Miss Laura Clements, the roung English actress, who schieved a triumph in the role of "She" last sea

"Penelope." Miss Thompson has surrounded herself with an efficient company, and the chorus is composed of a shapely collection of damsels who daine gracefully and sing well. An extra matine will be given on Election Day.

In Oliver Byron, who will appear at Jacobe's Brooklyn Theastre next week, Br. Jacoba has a strong attraction. Mr. Byron will produce for the first time a new melodrama entitled "The Upper House," which was written expressly for him. A special matine is underlined for Election Day, and in the evening election returns will be announced from the stage.

Ads Glimsh, supported by a company of capable comedians, will present Dumont's farce-comedy, "Bubbling Over," at Jacobe's New Lyceum Theatre next week. "Bubbling Over is built after the style of Hoyt's popular plays. There is an interesting little story running through it, and it has the semblance of a plot. A special Election, Day matinée will be given and election returns read in the evening.

"The Wages of Slu," presented by H. R. Lacobe's company, will be the attraction at Proctor's Brooklyn Theatre next week, and crowded houses should be the rule at this popular house. Mr. Proctor's latest acquisition in the amusement line is the Worcester Theatre, Worcester, Mass. which he has leased for a term of ten years.

Manager Holmes, of Holmes's Museum, will the criginal present his patron house.

which he has leased for a term of ten years.

Manager Holmes, of Holmes's Museum, will present his patrons next week with the original "Big Four" combination, who, in addition to their variety acts, will introduce a drama called "The Scout's Daughter." New curiosities are constantly being added to the museum hall.

Manager Gebhardt, of Zipp's Casino, will present a bill next week rich in novelties. The Steens, who recently made a hit at this place, will be seen again in an entirely new programme, of which their second sight business is a wonderful feature. Armand Veszey, the cornetist, is becoming almost as popular with Casino audiences as is Minnie Schult.

Baxendale & Co. are the contractors having charge of the work on the section passing through Tremont and an order from them is reproduced in fac simile in The World.

The order is on F. W. Burkhardt & Co., of One Hundred and Seventy-sixth street and Washington avenue. It calls for $2.50 in goods to be paid to J. W. Jackson, and it is customary to give such orders to employees of the firm who want money before the regular pay day.

Burkhardt & Co. sell liquors and Jackson, who is an engineer, wanted cash. He had done one day special work and didn't care to various kinds were mixed in great profusion. Upon close inspection it was found that Upon close inspection it was found that they were painted on a placque, in the shape of a dish, but so admirably that they looked as natural as if they had grown there. A colored clevator boy stood in the door-way and the reporter asked him.

"Who painted this?"

"Mme. Jeannette Thorp," he answered, gibly, "She has a studio here on the third floor," he continued, "and, oh, my! she kin paint watermelons that looks good enough to eat, boss."

He smacked his lips as he thought of it, and the reporter decided to interview Mme. Thorp.

Boy Heart to Her List. One of those charming little natural incidents which sometimes relieve the artificialty of the stage occurred to little Corinne, the actress, in Brooklyn last week.

It was at the close of the matinée at Jacobs's Theatre that the winsome little actress, when on her way home, enveloped in her furs, saw a newsboy gazing at her with his soul in his eyes.

Corinne had seen him on several previous occasions with the same wistful look on his face, and this time she stopped and spoke to him, saying:

him, saying:
"Sonny, did you want a ticket to the theatre?"

theatre?"
"No, mum," said the boy, drawing his figure up to its full height, "I can pay me own way in. I'se got de rocks."
The independence of the boy pleased the little actress and she called the attention of her motoer to him. The latter, becoming interested, fitted the little fellow out with a new suit of clothing and taking him to the box office of the theatre, procured a seat in the proscenium box for the evening's entertainment.

Free Whiskey as a Promoter of Campaign

Enthusiasm.
One of the most enthusiastic advocates of the Bowling Green Republican Club and the election of Harrison and Morton was the central figure of quite a good-sized sidewalk trai figure or quite a good-alzed sidewalk crowd in front of the club's headquarters the other afternoon.

He was young and strong, and was shonting out his views in an incoherent strain, while gesticulating wildly.

He was running a little campaign of his own, and his audience was highly pleased.

After standing in the crowd for a few min

After standing in the crowd for a few min utes, an Evenino World reporter began to inquire what it was all about and learned that the gesticulating man had been made the victim of a little joke.

A few of his friends, recognizing his ability as an orator and his love for free whiskey, had conspired to get him royally drunk and had succeeded beautifully.

It may be easily imagined that his arguments for the success of the ticket was amusing.

Burkhardt & Co. sell liquors and Jackson, who is an engineer, wanted cash. He had done one day special work and didn't care to wait a mouth for his pay. He got $1.90, Burkhardt & Co. holding back the rest "for the use of their money."

A WORLD reporter found this sort of shaving, a most profitable one, to be a regular practice of Burkhardt & Co., on Baxendale & Co's, orders. It is a violation of law for the latter firm and a double offense for the former.

The workmen have to submit to the shav

NIPPING A MUTINY.

Our gunboat lay in the Mississippi, attached to Porter's flotilla, and I was acting as chief engineer. Our Captain was a volunteer officer, an excellent sailor and a brave man, and if he had a fault it was that of over-indulgence to his crew. Said crew was a motley collection, made up almost entirely of rivermen—flatboatmen, raftsmen, landing porters and 'longshoremen of all kinds—and too many of them were of a disposition to take advantage of kindness.

They had no conception of duty, save that which was forced upon them, and they had a followed my stokers to the door of the authority shipped with the impression that refused to do any more work. I called them to me, and asked what they meant. One of "Nearly half the crew have refused to do further duty, and demand to be paid off and set on shore. They have not yet spoken with me, but i expect them every moment."

While we were conversing, the officer of the deck came into the cabin, and informed the Captain that a number of the crew had assembled in the gangway, and demanded to see him. He rose, buckled on his sword and went out. In the starboard gangway were about forty of the men, headed by a stout, burly, dark-visaged fellow named Basard. He was a bully and a blackleg. As the Captain approached this man steeped forward, and said be had been chosen to speak for his companions. He wanted it understood that there was no particular leader in this business; but that the terms of enlistment of forty-two of the men had expired, and they desired to be paid off and so the commodore and explain the matter to him; and the men went forward, swearing that they would never roturn to duty, let come what would.

The Captain spoke to them at first very moderately. He explained to them what were the rules of war. He told them that the mere expiration of a given time could not absolve an enlisted man from his allegrance, Any open opposition to constituted authority before they were regularly disclarged would be muthy; and if such mutiny; could not be quelled, the efficiency of the service would there won't be much trouble. I will come there won't be much trouble. I will come
